Diocese of Broken Bay

THIRTIETH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

27 - 10 - 19

This week: Sirach 35:12-14, 16-19; 2 Tim 4:6-8, 16-18; Lk 18:9-14

Next week: Wis 11:22-12:2; 2 Thess 1:11- 2:2; Lk 19:1-10

Once again it's the theme of God's love as hospitality of heart that emerges in today's Gospel:

Zacchaeus was a public sinner – as a tax collector he worked for the occupying Romans and extorted his own people. His sin was real, not imagined.

And the response of religious people was to shun him. That's how sin and sinners should be treated.

By contrast Jesus invites himself to dinner!

We can't imagine the impact of that simple act. Under Jewish ritual law to enter a sinner's house made you unclean – and to share food with them made you as unclean as could be imagined.

But that's what Jesus does. In our Christian faith we recognise Jesus as the incarnation of the God of love: in Jesus we see our God made visible.

And what we see is a God whose heart is utter hospitality. There is no exclusion, only invitation. Zacchaeus' life was transformed because for once someone embraced him rather than judging him. Hospitality of heart. That's the God we believe in. The God we're called to reflect.

Parish Renewal and Revitalisation .....The Plenary Council 2020

As you may already know, the Plenary Council 2020, a formal gathering of all local churches in the country to discuss the future of our Church in Australia, will be held next year. In the past year our parish, and others around the country held listening and dialogue sessions. Out of these sessions, six themes were chosen for the Council to focus on. Now the Council has asked us to "further discern" on these six themes and submit ideas about what the future of our Church should look like.

More discernment – didn't we give them all our ideas the first time? Fr Noel Connolly, a Columban and member of the Plenary Council 2020* explains why we need this second phase in an excerpt from his article "Why Another Phase of Discernment?":

Discernment takes time: Catholics have not been asked to "speak up" much in the past. To hear what the Holy Spirit is asking us, we need to take the time to 'know our hearts' deepest desires'. We must ask ourselves: "what is the Holy Spirit leading us to do?"

Group discernment is not a debate and opinions are varied: It takes time and practice to develop the trust required to listen attentively to others and to openly share our own experiences and insights.

The decisions we are making are significant and difficult. Ever since the early days of the church we have been asked to call upon the Holy Spirit to guide us through difficult decisions. (see Acts 15). We need the Holy Spirit to keep us "open, generous and respectful."

Pope Francis asks us to speak up boldly but also to listen humbly and always with a heart open to what the Spirit is saying in others.

Please join us in this important milestone for the future of our church! We will publish dates and times for discernment soon... WATCH THIS SPACE!

FR RICHARD ROHR OFM'S MEDITATION: THE FRANCISCAN WAY: DISCOVERING ANEW

St Francis of Assisi (1182–1226) was a master of making room for the new and letting go of that which was tired or empty. His first biographer described Francis as always hopeful, always new, always beginning again. [1] Much of Francis' genius was that he was ready for absolute "newness" from God, and therefore, could also trust fresh and new attitudes in himself. His God was not old, so Francis remained forever young.

There are always new vocabularies, fresh symbols, new frames and styles, but Francis must have known, at least intuitively, that there is only one enduring spiritual insight and everything else follows from it: The visible world is an active doorway to the invisible world, and the invisible world is much larger than the visible. I would call this mystical insight "the mystery of incarnation," or the essential union of the material and the spiritual worlds, or simply "Christ." [2]

Our outer world and its inner significance must come together for there to be any wholeness—and holiness. The result is deep joy and a resounding sense of coherent beauty. What was personified in the body of Jesus was a manifestation of this one universal truth: Matter is, and has always been, the hiding place for Spirit, forever offering itself to be discovered anew. Perhaps this is exactly what Jesus means when he says, "I am the gate" (John 10:7). Francis and his female companion, Clare (1194–1253), carried this mystery to its full and lovely conclusion. Or, more rightly, they were fully carried by the mystery. They somehow knew that the beyond was not really beyond, but in the depths of here.

One way to understand Francis and Clare is by reading their lives from what has emerged through their imitators and followers—those who discovered and rediscovered what can only be called radical simplification. Here I am thinking of people like Thérèse of Lisieux, Charles de Foucauld, Dorothy Day, Seraphim of Sarov, Nicholas von der Flüe, Mother Teresa, and, most recently, Pope Francis—to name a few Christian examples. The way of Francis of Assisi cannot be contained inside of formal Franciscanism simply because it is nothing more than the Gospel itself—in very distilled and honest form.

[2] Immediately after I wrote this paragraph, I opened to this telling passage, which I took as confirmation of this "one spiritual truth" in Francis: "Often, without moving his lips, he would meditate within himself. He drew external things within himself, and they would lift his spirit to even higher things." Thomas of Celano, "Second Life of St. Francis," book 2, LXI.95, St Francis of Assisi: Omnibus of Sources, 440.

A tribute to Cardinal Newman on the occasion of his canonisation

by HRH The Prince of Wales

When Pope Francis canonises Cardinal John Henry Newman tomorrow, the first Briton to be declared a saint in over forty years, it will be a cause of celebration not merely in the United Kingdom, and not merely for Catholics, but for all who cherish the values by which he was inspired.

In the age when he lived, Newman stood for the life of the spirit against the forces that would debase human dignity and human destiny. In the age in which he attains sainthood, his example is needed more than ever – for the manner in which, at his best, he could advocate without accusation, could disagree without disrespect and, perhaps most of all, could see differences as places of encounter rather than exclusion.

At a time when faith was being questioned as never before, Newman, one of the greatest theologians of the nineteenth century, applied his intellect to one of the most pressing questions of our era: what should be the relationship of faith to a sceptical, secular age? His engagement first with Anglican theology, and then, after his conversion, Catholic theology, impressed even his opponents with its fearless honesty, its unsparing rigour and its originality of thought.

Whatever our own beliefs, and no matter what our own tradition may be, we can only be grateful to Newman for the gifts, rooted in his Catholic faith, which he shared with wider society: his intense and moving spiritual autobiography and his deeply-felt poetry in "The Dream of Gerontius" which, set to music by Sir Edward Elgar – another Catholic of whom all Britons can be proud – gave the musical world one of its most enduring choral masterpieces.

At the climax of 'The Dream of Gerontius' the soul, approaching heaven, perceives something of the divine vision:

*It floods me, like the deep and solemn sound
Of many waters.*

Harmony requires difference. The concept rests at the very heart of Christian theology in the concept of the Trinity. In the same poem, Gerontius says:

Firmly I believe and truly

God is three, and God is One;

As such, difference is not to be feared. Newman not only proved this in his theology and illustrated it in his poetry, but he also demonstrated it in his life. Under his leadership, Catholics became fully part of the wider society, which itself thereby became all the richer as a community of communities.

Newman engaged not merely with the church, but with the world. While wholeheartedly committed to the Church to which he came through so many intellectual and spiritual trials, he nonetheless initiated open debate between Catholics and other Christians, paving the way for later ecumenical dialogues. On his elevation to the Cardinalate in 1879, he took as his motto "Cor ad cor loquitur"; or heart speaks to heart, and his conversations across confessional, cultural, social and economic divides, were rooted in that intimate friendship with God.

His faith was truly catholic in that it embraced all aspects of life. It is in that same spirit that we, whether we are Catholics or not, can, in the tradition of the Christian Church throughout the ages, embrace the unique perspective, the particular wisdom and insight, brought to our universal experience by this one individual soul. We can draw inspiration from his writings and his life even as we recognise that, like all human lives, it was inevitably flawed. Newman himself was aware of his failings, such as pride and defensiveness which fell short of his own ideals, but which, ultimately, left him only more grateful for the mercy of God.

His influence was immense. As a theologian, his work on the development of doctrine showed that our understanding of God can grow over time, and had a profound impact on later thinkers. Individual Christians have found their personal devotion challenged and strengthened by the importance he attached to the voice of conscience. Those of all traditions who seek to define and defend Christianity have found themselves grateful for the way he reconciled faith and reason. Those who seek the divine in what can seem like an increasingly hostile intellectual environment find in him a powerful ally who championed the individual conscience against an overwhelming relativism.

And perhaps most relevantly of all at this time, when we have witnessed too many grievous assaults by the forces of intolerance on communities and individuals, including many Catholics, because of their beliefs, he is a figure who stood for his convictions despite the disadvantages of belonging to a religion whose adherents were denied full participation in public life. Through the whole process of Catholic emancipation and the restoration of the Catholic Church hierarchy, he was the leader his people, his church and his times needed.

His capacity for personal warmth and generous friendship is shown in his correspondence. There exist over 30 collected volumes of his letters, many of which, tellingly, are not addressed to the fellow intellectuals and prominent leaders but to family, friends and parishioners who sought out his wisdom.

His example has left a lasting legacy. As an educator, his work was profoundly influential in Oxford, Dublin and beyond, while his treatise, "The Idea of a University", remains a defining text to this day. His often overlooked labours on behalf of children's education are testimony to his commitment to ensuring those of all backgrounds shared the opportunities learning can bring. As an Anglican, he guided that church back to its Catholic roots, and as a Catholic he was ready to learn from the Anglican tradition, such as in his promoting the role of the laity. He gave the Catholic Church renewed confidence as it re-established itself in a land in which it had once been uprooted. The Catholic community in Britain today owes an incalculable debt to his tireless work, even as British society has cause for gratitude to that community for its immeasurably valuable contribution to our country's life.

That confidence was expressed in his love of the English landscape and of his native country's culture, to which he made such a distinguished contribution. In the Oratory which he established in Birmingham, and which now houses a museum dedicated to his memory as well as an active worshipping community, we see the realisation in England of a vision he derived from Rome which he described as "the most wonderful place on Earth". In bringing the Oratorian Congregation from Italy to England, Newman sought to share its charism of education and service.

He loved Oxford, gracing it not only with passionate and erudite sermons, but also with the beautiful Anglican church at Littlemore, created after a formative visit to Rome where, seeking guidance on his future spiritual path and pondering his relationship with the Church of England and with Catholicism, he wrote his beloved hymn, "Lead Kindly Light". When he finally decided to leave the Church of England, his last sermon as he said farewell to Littlemore left the congregation in tears. It was entitled "The Parting of Friends."

As we mark the life of this great Briton, this great churchman and, as we can will shortly say, this great saint, who bridges the divisions between traditions, it is surely right that we give thanks for the friendship which, despite the parting, has not merely endured, but has strengthened.

In the image of divine harmony which Newman expressed so eloquently, we can see how, ultimately, as we follow with sincerity and courage the different paths to which conscience calls us, all our divisions can lead to a greater understanding and all our ways can find a common home.

(Prince Charles attended the canonisation of St John Henry Newman in an official capacity. His article was written for the Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano's edition of 12th October and reprinted in this week's edition of 'The Tablet').

I will bless the Lord at all times,
God's praise always on my lips;

The humble shall hear and be glad.

The Lord turns his face against the wicked to destroy their remembrance from the earth.
The just call and the Lord hears and rescues them in all their distress.

The Lord is close to the broken-hearted;
those whose spirit is crushed he will save.
The Lord ransoms the souls of his servants.

beneficiaries:

- CatholicCare Hospital Chaplaincy and Pastoral Care Programme – where five Pastoral Care ministers reach over 3,000 patients, 700 families and over 180 hospital staff each year across seven hospitals in our Diocese.
- Confraternity of Christian Doctrine – creating and updating the curriculum and training catechists who minister to State School students across the Diocese.

上主是審判者, 決不看情面。他決不偏袒任何人, 而加害窮人; 他倒樂於俯聽受壓迫者的祈禱。他決不輕視孤兒的哀求, 及寡婦訴苦的歎息。凡誠心誠意恭敬天主的, 必蒙接納; 他的祈禱上徹雲霄。謙卑人的祈禱, 穿雲而上, 不達到目的, 決不罷休; 不等至高者見了, 為義人伸冤, 執行正義, 決不離開。上主決不遲延。——上主的話

答唱詠 詠34:2-3, 17-18, 19,23

【答】: 卑微人一呼號, 上主立即俯允。(詠34:7)

願我的心靈, 因上主而自豪; 願謙卑的人聽到, 也都歡喜雀躍。【答】

領: 上主的威容, 敵視作惡的人民, 把他們的紀念, 從人間抹去。義人一呼號, 上主立即俯允, 拯救他們, 脫離一切艱辛。【答】

親愛的:
我已被奠祭, 我離世的時期, 已經近了。這場好仗, 我已打完; 這場賽跑, 我已跑到終點; 這信仰, 我已保持了。從今以後, 正義的冠冕, 已為我預備好了, 就是主、正義的審判者, 到那一日, 必要賞賜給我的; 不但賞賜給我, 而且也賞賜給一切愛慕他顯現的人。在我初次過堂時, 沒有人在我身旁; 眾人都離棄了我。願天主不歸罪於他們! 但是, 主卻在我左右, 堅固了我, 使福音的宣講, 藉著我而完成, 使一切外邦人, 都能聽見; 我也從獅子口中, 被救了出來。主要救我脫離各種凶惡的事, 也要使我安全地進入他天上的國。願光榮歸於他, 於無窮世之世! 阿們。——上主的話。

福音前歡呼

領/眾: 亞肋路亞。

眾: 亞肋路亞。

福音 (這個稅吏下去, 成了正義的人, 而那個法利

恭讀聖路加福音 18:9-14

那時候, 耶穌向幾個自充為義人, 而輕視其他人的人, 設了這個比喻: 「有兩個人上聖殿去祈禱: 一個是法利塞人, 另一個是稅吏。

「那個法利塞人站著, 心裡這樣祈禱: 天主, 我感謝你, 因為我不像其他人, 勒索、不義、姦淫, 也不像這個稅吏。我每周兩次禁食, 凡我所得的, 都捐獻十分之一。」「那個稅吏卻遠遠地站著, 連舉目望天都不敢, 只是捶著自己的胸膛說: 天主, 可憐我這個罪人吧! 「我告訴你們: 這稅吏回到他家裡, 成了正義的人, 而那法利塞人卻不然。因為凡高舉自己的, 必被貶抑; 凡貶抑自己的, 必被高舉。」——上主的話。
