ENTRANCE PROCESSION

Your merciful love, O God,
we have received in the midst of your temple.
Your praise, O God, like your name,
reaches the ends of the earth;
your right hand is filled with saving justice.

COLLECT

O God, who in the abasement of your Son have raised up a fallen world,
fill your faithful with holy joy,
for on those you have rescued from slavery to sin
you bestow eternal gladness.
Through our Lord Jesus Christ, your Son, who lives and reigns with you in the unity of the Holy Spirit,
God, for ever and ever. Amen.

SELF REFLECTION: MISSION

This Sunday's Gospel, Luke 10:1–12, 17–20
Jesus sends out the seventy-two, reminding us that we are called to share peace, heal, and proclaim the kingdom of God. Even when faced with rejection, we are not alone—our joy lies not in success, but in knowing our names are written in heaven.

I ask myself:

- What does it mean for me to trust God when I feel unprepared or rejected?
- Do I find joy in what I do, or in who I am in Christ?
- How can I remind myself that my true identity is found in God, not in achievements?

Sent out to share peace

Lord,
You send me to share your peace and love. Help me trust in you, even when the journey is hard. May I find joy in knowing I belong to you. Amen.

First Reading: Isaiah 66:10-14 (JB)

A reading from the prophet Isaiah

I will send toward Jerusalem peace like a river.

Rejoice, Jerusalem, be glad for her, all you who love her!
Rejoice, rejoice for her, all you who mourned her!

That you may be suckled, filled, from her consoling breast,
that you may savour with delight her glorious breasts.

For thus says the Lord: Now towards her I send flowing peace, like a river, and like a stream in spate the glory of the nations.

At her breast will her nurslings be carried and fondled in her lap.
Like a son comforted by his mother will I comfort you.
And by Jerusalem you will be comforted.

At the sight your heart will rejoice, and your bones flourish like the grass.
To his servants the Lord will reveal his hand.

The word of the Lord.
Thanks be to God.

Responsorial Psalm:

R. Let all the earth cry out to God with joy.

Second Reading: Galatians 6:14-18 (JB)

A reading from the letter of St Paul to the Galatians

The marks I carry on my body are those of Jesus Christ.

The only thing I can boast about is the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, through whom the world is crucified to me, and I to the world. It does not matter if a person is circumcised or not; what matters is for him to become an altogether new creature. Peace and mercy to all who follow this rule, who form the Israel of God.

I want no more trouble from anybody after this; the marks on my body are those of Jesus. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit, my brothers. Amen.

The word of the Lord.
Thanks be to God.

Gospel Acclamation

Alleluia, alleluia!

You are Peter, the rock on which I will build my Church;
the gates of hell will not hold out against it.
Alleluia!

GOSPEL Luke 10:1-12, 17-20 (JB)

A reading from the holy Gospel according to Luke

Your peace will rest upon him.

The Lord appointed seventy-two others and sent them out ahead of him, in pairs, to all the towns and places he himself was to visit. He said to them, 'The harvest is rich but the labourers are few, so ask the Lord of the harvest to send labourers to his harvest. Start off now, but remember, I am sending you out like lambs among wolves. Carry no purse, no haversack, no sandals. Salute no one on the road. Whatever house you go into, let your first words be, "Peace to this house!" And if a man of peace lives there, your peace will go and rest on him; if not, it will come back to you. Stay in the same house, taking what food and drink they have to offer, for the labourer deserves his wages; do not move from house to house. Whenever you go into a town where they make you welcome, eat what is set before you. Cure those in it who are sick, and say, "The kingdom of God is very near to you." But whenever you enter a town and they do not make you welcome, go out into its streets and say, "We wipe off the very dust of your town that clings to our feet, and leave it with you. Yet be sure of this: the kingdom of God is very near." I tell you, on that day it will not go as hard with Sodom as with that town.'

The seventy-two came back rejoicing. 'Lord,' they said, 'even the devils submit to us when we use your name.' He said to them, 'I watched Satan fall like lightning from heaven. Yes, I have given you power to tread underfoot serpents and scorpions and the whole strength of the enemy; nothing shall ever hurt you. Yet do not rejoice that the spirits submit to you; rejoice rather that your names are written in heaven.'

The Gospel of the Lord.
Praise to you, Lord Jesus Christ.

GOSPEL REFLECTION

Sunday, July 6

Isaiah 66:10-14 / Psalm 66:1-7, 16, 10 / Galatians 6:14-18 / Luke 10:1-12

Whatever town you enter and they welcome you . . . (Luke 10:8)

Imagine that you're one of the disciples. You enter a small town, stand in the marketplace, and proclaim, "The kingdom of God is at hand for you" (Luke 10:9). How do you think the villagers would react? Would they be excited and want to hear more? Would they ignore you? Or would they laugh and run you out of town?

In today's Gospel, Jesus speaks to the seventy-two disciples he has chosen for a preaching mission. He wants to give them realistic expectations: the people they visit may welcome their message—but they also might reject it. He tells them that they are to proclaim the good news, but the outcome of their preaching is out of their hands. And what an outcome it was! Even demons submitted to them (Luke 10:17)!

In the same way, we don't know how people will react when we try to share our faith. So we tend to overthink things: Will they be open to listening to my message, or will they politely dismiss me and say that they are not interested? But whatever the case, our decision to tell people about God's kingdom shouldn't be based on how we think they'll respond. Our responsibility is simply to extend an invitation.

Even when it seems that someone has rejected our message, we can't see into the future. Years later, someone may turn to Christ because they recalled something we said to them about our love for the Lord. Something similar may have happened to the townspeople who initially rejected the disciples' message. Perhaps later, when they heard the news that Jesus had risen from the dead, they remembered the disciples' visit and came to believe in him.

So lay aside any discouragement you might feel if you don't see your efforts bearing fruit. Whatever happens, rejoice that you have done what God has called you to do and that your name, too, is written in heaven (Luke 10:20)!

SAINT OF THE WEEK

Saint Benedict, Abbot

C. 480—c. 547

Feast Day: July 11

Patron Saint of Europe, monks and religious orders, architects, dying people, cave explorers, schoolchildren, agricultural workers, civil engineers, and coppersmiths

Invoked against erysipelas, fever, gallstones, inflammatory diseases, kidney disease, nettle rash, poison, temptations, and witchcraft

Canonized by Pope Honorius III in 1220

Declared Patron Saint of Europe by Pope Paul VI in 1964

Benedict was born in Nursia, about 100 miles northeast of Rome. From a comfortable childhood as a member of the nobility, Benedict pursued a holy life with far-reaching implications for the Church. At age twenty, Benedict left his studies in Rome to seek a life of virtue. After living in the Church of Saint Peter in Affile, he donned a monastic habit to live in a cave near Subiaco. As a hermit, he spent three years prayerfully rooting out his sin, especially the most common temptations: “the temptation of self-affirmation and the desire to put oneself at the center, the temptation of sensuality and, lastly, the temptation of anger and revenge” (Pope Benedict XVI, General Audience, April 9, 2008).

Over the next two decades, he served as abbot to a group of local monks and founded twelve small monasteries around Subiaco. Numerous miracles were said to take place through his intervention, and while his radical way of living attracted followers, it so angered others that they tried to kill him.

At age fifty, Benedict moved sixty miles southeast to the mountaintop of Monte Cassino. There, Benedict destroyed a temple built to the Roman god Apollo, building two chapels in its place, and then constructed a monastery. Rather than loosely associated hermits living independently, numerous monks could live in his large monastery. His “Rule of Saint Benedict” guided the monks at Monte Cassino and became the normative rule for Western monasticism for the next 1,500 years.

The “Rule” consists of seventy-three short chapters that lay out guidelines for stability, conversion of life, obedience, prayer, work, community life, hospitality, and humility. Most monks did not engage in extreme penances or other radical charisms. Instead, the Rule fosters a balanced community life in which each monk can discover a daily rhythm of prayer, work, and study conducive to a deeper and personal call to holiness.

While Benedict set up his community at Monte Cassino, he likely played a role as his twin sister, Scholastica, helped found a monastery for women, with his Rule guiding their daily life. The two remained close until her death when Benedict had a vision of Scholastica being taken to Heaven. He brought her body to Monte Cassino to be buried in his future grave that the two now share.

After less than ten years at Monte Cassino, Benedict died, but his influence on the Church and all of Europe had just begun. European monasteries, guided by his Rule, developed into centers for education, medicine, culture, and social development, later giving birth to universities. The monasteries preserved ancient texts, stabilized communities, influenced nobility, and drew many to Christ. Their flourishing liturgies made the monasteries the central teachers of prayer and worship. Many have referred to Saint Benedict as not only the “Father of Monasticism,” but also the father of modern Europe. Fittingly, Pope Paul VI declared Saint Benedict the Patron Saint of Europe in 1964.

Saint Benedict, you fled moral corruption to seek God’s will. Through your prayerful obedience to God, inestimable good fruit has been borne. Please pray that I will always seek God’s will, leaving behind the many temptations that I encounter, so that God can use me in ways known only to Him. Saint Benedict, pray for me. Jesus, I trust in You.

MANY VOICES, ONE FUTURE

"Treat people as if they were what they ought to be and you help them become what they are capable of being."

~ Johann Wolfgang von Goethe ~

This coming week (NAIDOC Week) is a chance to slow down and listen – not just to words, but also to stories, histories and wisdom passed down through generations. These are stories of strength, culture, survival and identity. When we make time to hear them, we honour those who came before us and those still on this journey today.

We don't always get things right, but listening helps us learn and grow. It reminds us of what's important – truth, kindness, fairness and caring for each other. Many voices have shaped this land. How we speak, act and walk alongside others helps build a future that honours every story and every person.

With respect, we hold the power to grow and unite.

Dear God,

*help us to act with fairness,
to speak with kindness and to care for one another. Guide us to always choose what is right. Amen.*
