TWENTY-SEVENTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME YEAR A

7 & 8 OCTOBER 2023

ENTRANCE ANTIPHON

Within your will, O Lord, all things are established, and there is none that can resist your will.
For you have made all things, the heaven and the earth,
and all that is held within the circle of heaven;
you are the Lord of all.

SUNDAY HOLY MASS PRAYER

Almighty ever-living God,
who in the abundance of your kindness surpass the merits
and the desires of those who entreat you, pour out your mercy upon us
to pardon what conscience dreads
and to give what prayer does not dare to ask.
Through our Lord Jesus Christ, your Son, who lives and reigns with you in the unity of the Holy Spirit,
God, for ever and ever. Amen.

REFLECTION - THE GIFT OF GOD

Sunday's Gospel, Matthew 21:33-43: "I tell you, then, that the kingdom of God will be taken from you and given to a people who will produce its fruit."

Jesus reminds us that the kingdom does not belong to us – it is a gift of God. I consider what it is that I think I own and consider how it is that all good comes from God's hands. So I give thanks.

- Which one is better rejection or self-surrender?
- What ways do I need to partake in the kingdom of God?
- Have I come to know Christ as my Lord and Saviour, or have I rejected Him like the Jewish leadership did ?

PRAYER

Lord, help me to study Your Word and pray for guidance, seeking Your will for my life and living out that will as best as I can, moment by moment, day by day. Amen.

First Reading: Isaiah 5:1-7 (JB)

A reading from the prophet Isaiah

The vineyard of the Lord God of hosts is the House of Israel.

Let me sing to my friend the song of his love for his vineyard.
 My friend has a vineyard on a fertile hillside.
 He dug the soil, cleared it of stones, and planted choice vines in it.
 In the middle he built a tower, he dug a press there too.
 He expected it to yield grapes, but sour grapes were all that it gave.

And now, inhabitants of Jerusalem and men of Judah,
 I ask you to judge between my vineyard and me.
 What could I have done for my vineyard that I have not done?
 I expected it to yield grapes. Why did it yield sour grapes instead?

Very well, I will tell you what I am going to do to my vineyard:
 I will take away its hedge for it to be grazed on, and knock down its wall for it to be trampled on.
 I will lay it waste, unpruned, undug; overgrown by the briar and the thorn.
 I will command the clouds to rain no rain on it.
 Yes, the vineyard of the Lord of hosts is the House of Israel,
 and the men of Judah that chosen plant.
 He expected justice, but found bloodshed, integrity, but only a cry of distress.

The word of the Lord.

Thanks be to God.

Responsorial Psalm:

R. The vineyard of the Lord is the House of Israel.

Second Reading: Philippians 4:6-9 (JB)

A reading from the letter of St Paul to the Philippians

Do these things and the God of peace will be with you.

There is no need to worry; but if there is anything you need, pray for it, asking God for it with prayer and thanksgiving, and that peace of God, which is so much greater than we can understand, will guard your hearts and your thoughts, in Christ Jesus. Finally, brothers, fill your minds with everything that is true, everything that is noble, everything that is good and pure, everything that we love and honour, and everything that can be thought virtuous or worthy of praise. Keep doing all the things that you learnt from me and have been taught by me and have heard or seen that I do. Then the God of peace will be with you.

The word of the Lord.

Thanks be to God.

Gospel Acclamation

Alleluia, alleluia!
 I call you friends, says the Lord,
 because I have made known to you everything I have learnt from my Father.
 Alleluia!

GOSPEL: Matthew 21:33-43 (JB)

A reading from the holy Gospel according to Matthew

He leased his vineyard to other farmers.

Jesus said to the chief priests and the elders of the people: 'Listen to another parable. There was a man, a landowner, who planted a vineyard; he fenced it round, dug a winepress in it and built a tower; then he leased it to tenants and went abroad. When vintage time drew near he sent his servants to the tenants to collect his produce. But the tenants seized his servants, thrashed one, killed another and stoned a third. Next he sent some more servants, this time a larger number, and they dealt with them in the same way. Finally he sent his son to them. "They will respect my son," he said. But when the tenants saw the son, they said to each other, "This is the heir. Come on, let us kill him and take over his inheritance." So they seized him and threw him out of the vineyard and killed him. Now when the owner of the vineyard comes, what will he do to those tenants?' They answered, 'He will bring those wretches to a wretched end and lease the vineyard to other tenants who will deliver the produce to him when the season arrives.' Jesus said to them, 'Have you never read in the scriptures:

It was the stone rejected by the builders that became the keystone. This was the Lord's doing and it is wonderful to see? 'I tell you, then, that the kingdom of God will be taken from you and given to a people who will produce its fruit.'

The Gospel of the Lord.

Praise to you, Lord Jesus Christ.

GOSPEL REFLECTION

Sunday, October 8

Isaiah 5:1-7

Psalm 80:9, 12-16, 19-20

Philippians 4:6-9

Matthew 21:33-43

The kingdom of God will be . . . given to a people that will produce its fruit. (Matthew 21:43)

In today's Gospel, Jesus tells a parable to some Jewish leaders about vinedressers who killed the servants sent by a landowner to collect the fruit of the harvest (Matthew 21:34-39). What is Jesus trying to say?

It would be easy to conclude that Jesus is rebuking these chief priests and elders for rejecting John the Baptist and himself. But he's doing more than foreshadowing his death by identifying himself with the murdered son of the vineyard owner (Matthew 21:37-42). He's not addressing only the Jewish leaders; he is speaking to us as well.

Jesus is telling us that the kingdom of God will be given to people who bear fruit. Throughout Matthew's Gospel, we hear the same message. John the Baptist exhorted Israel's religious leaders to "bear fruit in keeping with repentance" (Matthew 3:10). Jesus warned his disciples that "every tree that does not bear good fruit will be cut down" (7:19). And what's the good fruit he is looking for? Faith in him and love for his people.

Jesus told this parable the day after entering Jerusalem to shouts of "Hosanna" (Matthew 21:9). He cured all the sick who flocked to him there, and everyone was amazed—except these leaders. Instead of accepting him and rejoicing that God's people were healed, they questioned his authority (21:24). And in doing so, they bore no fruit.

But that doesn't have to be our story. We can be a fruitful vineyard for the Lord! He has already planted the seed of faith within us. Each day he pours out grace to make us "rich soil" that produces fruit, even one hundred fold (Matthew 13:8). So let's nurture our seed with faith-filled prayer and prune our vines with repentance and works of mercy. Let's bear the fruit of faith, hope, and love. Let's receive the kingdom!

"Jesus, help me to bear fruit for you today."

Every Day I Need You, Lord

Every day I need You, Lord
but today especially,
I need some extra strength
to face whatever is to come.
This day, more than any other day,
I need to feel You near me
to strengthen my courage
and to overcome any fear.
By myself, I cannot meet
the challenge of the hour.
We are frail
human creatures and we need a higher power
to sustain us in all
that life may bring.
And so, dear Lord,
hold my trembling hand.
Be with me, Lord, this day
and stretch out,
Your powerful arm to help me.
May Your love be upon me
as I place all my hope in You.
Amen

SAINT OF THE WEEK

ST DENIS, BISHOP AND COMPANIONS, MARTYRS

Feast Day: October 9

C. Third Century

Patron Saint of France, Paris, and possessed people

Saint Denis, whose Latin name is Dionysius, was most likely a Roman citizen who was born within the Roman Empire, possibly modern-day Italy. Nothing certain is known about his early life, and the mixture of fact and legend about his later life and martyrdom comes from at least the sixth century. He is believed to have been martyred sometime in the middle- to late-third century. Some sources suggest that he was martyred during the reign of Emperor Decius, who ruled from 249 to 251 and initiated a widespread persecution of Christians. Others suggest that his martyrdom might have been during the reign of Valerian, who ruled from 253 to 260 and also persecuted Christians. Still others suggest a later date. Most historians, however, accept the likelihood of a martyrdom under Decius.

Pope Fabian served as pope from 236–250. As a layman and a farmer, he was an unlikely candidate for the papacy. However, he traveled to Rome to attend the election of the new pope in 236, and during the debate a dove miraculously landed upon him, leading everyone present to believe it to be a divine sign. He was immediately chosen by popular consent.

During his pontificate, Pope Fabian was deeply committed to evangelization. The sixth-century historian, Gregory of Tours, writes that Pope Fabian sent out seven bishops to evangelize seven cities in modern-day France: Tours, Arles, Narbonne, Toulouse, Paris, Clermont, and Limoges. Bishop Denis was sent to Lutetia, modern-day Paris, and made bishop of that territory. He brought with him two companions: a priest named Rusticus and a deacon named Eleutherius. Upon arrival, they took up residence in the heart of Lutetia on an island in the Seine River.

On that island, Bishop Denis and his companions built a church and began to celebrate the Sacred Liturgy. They preached the Gospel to the inhabitants and won over many converts to the faith. Not all approved of their success. The pagan priests, or druids, became envious and began to revolt. The druids practiced a mixture of Celtic and Roman polytheistic religions that promoted the worship of various gods and goddesses in natural settings, such as forests, rivers, and hilltops. Rituals often involved offerings of food, drink, or valuable objects to appease the gods and to seek favors. As a result of the druids' envy, they stirred up the people who feared that if they did not put an end to this new religion, their gods and goddesses would be angered.

The uproar led to the arrest and imprisonment of Bishop Denis, the priest Rusticus, and the deacon Eleutherius. While in prison, the men suffered many tortures in an attempt to get them to renounce their faith, but they remained strong. Finally, all three were beheaded on the highest hill in Lutetia, which would have been a druid holy place. Gregory of Tours writes it this way, "Blessed Dionysius, the bishop of the Parisians, after suffering various punishments for the name of Christ, ended his present life by the imminent sword."

Saint Denis and his companions were early clerics, missionaries, and martyrs. Though they had a powerful effect upon the people of their time, their more profound effect came afterwards as faithful Christians were inspired by their witness and enthralled by their stories. Regardless of whether some details of their martyrdom are more legend than fact, their stories are inspirational. Though most historians deny the historicity of Saint Denis carrying his head, God is All-Powerful and could easily perform such a miracle. The greater miracle, however, is the witness they gave and the forgiveness this legend conveys.

As we honor Saint Denis and his companions, ponder the depth of your own faith and how willing you are to go, so as to embrace martyrdom rather than sin. Ponder, also, whether you are willing to forgive anyone and everyone who has sinned against you. These are the central messages of Saint Denis' legend. Allow those messages to penetrate your own soul.

Saint Denis and companions, you courageously traveled to an unknown land, to an unknown people, to share the Gospel of Jesus Christ. You did so with prayer and trust in God's divine guidance. God used you during your lives and continues to use you in your deaths. Please pray for me, that all that I am and all that I do will be done solely for the glory of God and the salvation of souls. Saints Denis, Rusticus, and Eleutherius, pray for me. Jesus, I trust in You.

This week Catholic Mission will offer the opportunity to be part of a life-changing program which aims to address gaps in medical care, and provide families with essential health care and knowledge, equipping them with the confidence to act and autonomy over their health and well-being.

The Maria Auxiliadora Clinic is a vital project for the Salesian Sisters and the Church in Venilale. Since its establishment, the clinic has provided life-saving treatment for families in need, like Petrolina's, whose daughter Vitoria was found to have tuberculosis. But, with an increase in the demand for treatment, the Sisters resources can only carry them so far.

Please give generously today to help continue this life-giving program by using the appeal envelope, going online at catholicmission.org.au/timor, or scanning the QR code. Your gift will also help many other similar Church-run mission programs around the world.

LOVE YOUR NEIGHBOUR

"Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind".
This is the first and greatest commandment.
And the second is like it: "Love your neighbour as yourself."

These profound words, spoken by Jesus, encapsulate the essence of our faith and the very core of our humanity.

When we love God with all our being, we recognise the divine spark within each of us, regardless of our abilities or disabilities. It's in this sacred love that we find the strength and compassion to fulfill the second commandment, to love our neighbours as ourselves.

In the journeys of individuals with disabilities, we witness a powerful testament to this love. Their unwavering faith, resilience, and the beauty of their unique perspectives inspire us to live out these commandments daily. They teach us the true meaning of empathy and inclusion, challenging us to build a world where everyone, regardless of their abilities, is embraced and valued.

As we reflect on these commandments, let us offer a prayer for people with disabilities.

Heavenly Father, we thank you for the boundless love and strength you bestow upon us.

We pray for your guidance in embodying the love we have for you by extending it to our neighbours, especially those with disabilities. May our hearts be open, our actions compassionate, and our communities inclusive. Bless those facing unique challenges with the support and understanding they deserve. Let us work together to create a world where love, acceptance, and unity prevail. Amen.
