Prayer for the Faithful Departed

Eternal rest grant unto them, O Lord,
and let perpetual light

May the souls of all the faithful departed,
Through the mercy of God, rest in peace.

Loving God,

who have gone before us.
Welcome them into Your embrace,

binds us beyond dead.

Amen.

Let us pray that those who are struggling with suicidal thoughts might find the support, care and love they need in their community, and be open to

Prayer for the Intercession of Blessed Francis Jordan

Lord Jesus Christ, Saviour of the world, you called Francis Mary of the Cross Jordan to be your apostle, to make God known and loved by all people everywhere, using all the means your love inspires. You filled him with universal apostolic zeal, with a deep trust in God's loving providence, with a profound spirit of prayer, with a sincere devotion to Mary, Mother of the Saviour, and with the courage to follow you, even into the mystery of the Cross.

Grant also to me the grace to proclaim the Gospel in this spirit, and make me an effective apostle in today's world.

Through the intercession of Blessed Francis Jordan, I pray to you for my special needs (include your personal intention). I make this prayer through you, my Saviour, who lives and reigns with the Father and the Holy Spirit, forever and ever. Amen.

Plenary Indulgences in November

November is a special time to pray for the dead. A plenary indulgence is a grace granted by the Catholic Church through the merits of Jesus Christ to remove the temporal punishment due to sin.

It is not a forgiveness of sin but the remission of punishment for sins already forgiven. It may apply either to oneself or to souls already in purgatory.

A plenary indulgence may be gained for the dead, daily, by visiting a Church on between 1—8 November, and praying the Lord's Prayer and the Creed. Three conditions are required for gaining the indulgence:

- Sacramental confession
- Eucharistic communion
- Prayer for the Pope's intentions

A Plenary indulgence may be obtained each day for one soul during this period.

Liturgy of the Word

The Commemoration of the Faithful Departed

Year C

Entrance Antiphon

Eternal rest grant unto them, O Lord,
and let perpetual light shine upon them.

First Reading Maccabees 12: 43-45

A reading from the book of Maccabees

Judas, the leader of the Jews, took a collection from the people individually, amounting to nearly two thousand drachmae, and sent it to Jerusalem to have a sacrifice for sin offered, an altogether fine and noble action, in which he took full account of the resurrection. For if he had not expected the fallen to rise again it would have been superfluous and foolish to pray for the dead, whereas if he had in view the splendid recompense reserved for those who make a pious end, the thought was holy and devout. This was why he had this atonement sacrifice offered for the dead, so that they might be released from their sin.

Responsorial Psalm Ps 62: 2-6, 8-9 R. v.2

(R.) My soul is thirsting for you, O Lord my God.

1. O God, you are my God, for you I long;
for you my soul is thirsting.
My body pines for you
like a dry, weary land without water. (R.)
2. So I gaze on you in the sanctuary to see your strength and your glory.
For your love is better than life,
my lips will speak your praise. (R.)
3. So I will bless you all my life,
In your name I will lift up my hands.
My soul shall be filled as with a banquet,
My mouth shall praise you with joy. (R.)
4. You have been my help;
in the shadow of your wings I rejoice.
My soul clings to you;
your right hand holds me fast. (R.)

Second Reading Philippians 3: 20-21

A reading from the letter of St Paul to the Philippians

For us, our homeland is in heaven, and from heaven comes the saviour we are waiting for, the Lord Jesus Christ, and he will transfigure these wretched bodies of ours into copies of his glorious body. He will do that by the same power with which he can subdue the whole universe.

Gospel Acclamation Jn 11: 25-26

Alleluia, alleluia!
I am the resurrection and the life, said the Lord:
Whoever believes in me will not die for ever.
Alleluia!

Gospel Luke 7: 11-17

A reading from the holy Gospel according to Luke

Jesus went to a town called Nain, accompanied by his disciples and a great number of people. When he was near the gate of the town it happened that a dead man was being carried out for burial, the only son of his mother, and she was a widow. And a considerable number of the townspeople were with her. When the Lord saw her he felt sorry for her. ‘Do not cry,’ he said. Then he went up and put his hand on the bier and the bearers stood still, and he said, ‘Young man, I tell you to get up’. And the dead man sat up and began to talk, and Jesus gave him to his mother. Everyone was filled with awe and praised God saying, ‘A great prophet has appeared among us; God has visited his people’. And this opinion of him spread throughout Judaea and all over the countryside.

Gospel Reflection

A man died and went to the pearly gates. St Peter met him there. ‘Before you meet with God,’ St Peter said, ‘I thought I should tell you that we’ve looked at your life, and you really didn’t do anything particularly good or bad. We’re not at all sure what to do with you. Can you tell us anything you did that can help us make a decision?’

The newly arrived soul thought for a moment and replied, ‘Yeah, once I was driving along and came upon a woman who was being harassed by a group of bikies. So I pulled over, got out my wheel brace, and went up to the leader of the bikies. He was a big, muscular, hairy guy with tattoos all over his body and a ring pierced through his nose. Well, I tore the nose ring out of his nose, and told him he and his gang had better stop bothering the woman or they would have to deal with me!’ ‘I’m very impressed’, St Peter responded, ‘When did this happen?’ ‘About two minutes ago!’

All Souls Day has its roots in the sixth century Benedictine tradition of praying to the dead. It was a way of recognising the human bonds which go beyond death. By the tenth century this feast was about praying for the dead, that they might know the merciful love of God.

It is appropriate today for us to think about what a soul is. In an increasingly secular society it’s interesting to note that the word ‘soul’ persists in ordinary conversation. Many non-religious people use this most religious of terms to describe another person. We often hear how others are lonely, distressed, or lost souls. It can be said that someone has a ‘beautiful soul’ or that a piece of music, a painting or other work of art ‘stirred my soul’.

We describe mellow jazz as ‘soulful’ and still alert others to distress by an SOS, ‘save our souls’. These uses of the word reinforce St Thomas Aquinas’ teaching that the soul makes us human, and sets us apart from other animals.

Nearly all the great religions of the world believe in a soul, or its equivalent – something that survives the annihilation of the body in death. I have come to the opinion that whatever else might characterise the soul, memory is an integral part of it.

I have done several funerals of people who have suffered from Alzheimer’s disease. These are rarely very sad occasions because the family invariably says that they ‘lost’ their loved one months or years before. Why? Because increasingly their loved one couldn’t remember anyone or anything. We hold to caring for the body from the womb to the tomb, because we believe that human dignity must always be respected. There are now theories about how even the memories of the circumstances of our conception and birth have a bearing on the way we live our lives. It is also apparent that even when people seem to have lost their memory, or are unconscious, that there is some recognition of some things at a very deep level.

Soul as memory means that when I meet God face to face, I will remember who I am and how I lived, and God will remember me. It’s also a comfort for us to think that we will be reunited with those we have loved who have died before us, because we remember each other.

And what is best about a ‘remembering soul’ is that it is purified. In the old catechism we used to say that heaven was the place where we are perfectly happy with God for eternity. If we think of purgatory as a stage rather than a place, then it’s possible to reclaim it as a moment when we see the fullness of God’s sacrificial love for us, and recall our sometimes destructive behaviour toward ourselves, others and the world. Purgatory can be a moment where our memory is purified so we can be eternally happy with God in heaven.

So let’s remember at this Eucharist all those ‘departed souls’ we have known and loved over the years, that they might pray for us that we never forget God’s saving love and live lives worthy of it.

Write a prayer of remembrance to those who have died - it can be for someone you know or someone you have heard about.

Dear Lord,

Amen.

The Lord says that those who have faith will be raised to life on the last day, even if they die. Write or draw some ways that you can show that you have faith.

The people who saw Jesus raise the dead man to life were frightened, but they praised God. Use the words below to find out what they said.

 God appeared great people prophet

The souls of the just are in the hands of God. They seemed to be dead; but they are in peace. (Wisdom 3: 1a, 2, 3b)

During November – and especially today – we remember in a special way all who have died in Christ. We ask God to give them eternal peace and light. We pray in kindness and love. Do you know someone who has died?

In the Litany of All Souls, we can help all who have died asking God’s mercy for them. (Before you pray, write in the name of a saint you know and the names of any loved ones who have died.)

God in heaven, we ask your mercy for all who have died. (pause) Especially:

Lord, hear our prayer.

Lord, hear our prayer.
