Productivity Commission Report

Readers will probably be aware that the Productivity Commission released its report into Mental Health in Australia last week after a two-year investigation.

The findings were, among others, that lack of progress on reforming our mental health system is costing Australia about $600 million a day, or $220 billion a year. This figure is calculated on the cumulative cost of healthcare and support services, the time and effort family members spend caring for a loved one living with mental illness, the lost opportunities – especially for young people – when they drop out of education or work, and the social and emotional cost of the pain brought on by mental illness. To put things into perspective, the Federal Government spends just under $10 billion a year on reducing the prevalence of mental illness and treatment funding. It's not just a question of funding of mental health services, but using the funding intelligently. The report's authors say, "Australia's current mental health system is not comprehensive and fails to provide the treatment and support that people who need it legitimately expect". They also say that there are significant gaps that need to be addressed in community care, in early prevention (particularly for young people), and the quality of treatment. Just as was the case with people living with a disability, individuals living with mental illness should be given more choice over the kind of treatment they want so that such treatment can meet their cultural, social, and clinical preferences. It also said that we currently concentrate on treatment rather than also looking at support in schools and tertiary institutions; expanding online mental health services and staff training; adopting a National Stigma Reduction Strategy; and reforming the insurance industry.

We are having an informal Coffee meeting at 2 pm on Tuesday 8 December at Warnies Café. All are welcome to come.

Readings at Mass

First reading

Ezekiel 34:11-12, 15-17

You, my flock, I judge between sheep and sheep.

The Lord says this: I am going to look after my flock myself and keep all of it in view. As a shepherd keeps all his flock in view when he stands up in the middle of his scattered sheep, so shall I keep my sheep in view. I shall rescue them from whatever they have been scattered during the mist and darkness. I myself will pasture my sheep, I myself will show the lost one, bring back the stray, bandage the wounded and make the weak strong. I shall watch over the fat and healthy, I shall be a true shepherd to them. As for you, my sheep, the Lord says this: I will judge between sheep and sheep, between rams and he-goats.

The word of the Lord

Responsorial Psalm

Psalm 22:1-3, 5-6

R The Lord is my shepherd;
There is nothing I shall want.

The Lord is my shepherd;
there is nothing I shall want.
Fresh and green are the pastures
where he gives me repose. R

Near restful waters he leads me,
to revive my drooping spirit.
He guides me along the right path;
he is true to his name. R

You have prepared a banquet for me
in the sight of my foes.
My head you have anointed with oil;
my cup is overflowing. R

Surely goodness and kindness shall follow me
all the days of my life.
In the Lord's own house shall I dwell
for ever and ever. R

Second reading

Corinthians 15:2-26, 28

He will hand over the kingdom to God the Father, so that God may be all in all.

Christ has been raised from the dead, the first-fruits of all who have fallen asleep. Death came through one man and in the same way the resurrection of the dead has come through one man. Just as all men die in Adam, so all men will be brought to life in Christ; but all of them in their proper order: Christ as the first-fruits and then, after the coming of Christ, those who belong to him. After that will come the end, when he hands over the kingdom to God the Father, having done away with every sovereignty, authority and power. For he must be king until he has put all his enemies under his feet and the last of the enemies to be destroyed is death. And when everything is subjected to him, then the Son himself will be subject in his turn to the One who subjected all things to him, so that God may be all in all.

The word of the Lord

Alleluia, alleluia !

Mk 11:9, 10

Blessings on him who comes in the name of the Lord!
Blessings on the coming kingdom of our father David!

Alleluia!

Gospel

Matthew 25:31-46

He will take his seat on his throne of glory, and he will separate men one from another.

Jesus said to his disciples: ‘When the Son of Man comes in his glory, escorted by all the angels, then he will take his seat on his throne of glory. All the nations will be assembled before him and he will separate men one from another as the shepherd separates sheep from goats. He will place the sheep on his right hand and the goats on his left. Then the King will say to those on his right hand, “Come, you whom my Father has blessed, take for your heritage the kingdom prepared for you since the foundation of the world. For I was hungry and you gave me food; I was thirsty and you gave me drink; I was a stranger and you made me welcome; naked and you clothed me, sick and you visited me, in prison and you came to see me.” Then the virtuous will say to him in reply, “Lord, when did we see you hungry and feed you; or thirsty and give you drink? When did we see you a stranger and make you welcome; naked and cloths you; sick or in prison and go to see you?” And the King will answer, “I tell you solemnly, in so far as you did this to one of the least of these brothers of mine, you did it to me.”

Next he will say to those on his left hand, “Go away from me, with your curse upon you, to the eternal fire prepared for the devil and his angels. For I was hungry and you never gave me food; I was thirsty and you never gave me anything to drink; I was a stranger and you never made me welcome, naked and you never clothed me, sick and in prison and you never visited me.” Then it will be their turn to ask, “Lord, when did we see you hungry or thirsty, a stranger or naked, sick or in prison, and did not come to your help?” Then he will answer, “I tell you solemnly, in so far as you neglected to do this to one of the least of these, you neglected to do it to me.” And they will go away to eternal punishment, and the virtuous to eternal life.’

The Gospel of the Lord.
