3rd Sunday of the Year | Year A Cycle 11 | 25 January 2026

Thus Begins...

Jesus begins his public ministry in the small town where he grew up. Though its importance was foreseen by Isaiah, the people at the time of Jesus are still walking in darkness with nobody to guide them. Jesus decides that it is time to change that situation. He begins very slowly, going to the lakeshore and calling four fishermen. The fishermen who receive the call immediately follow him. Thus begins the movement called Christianity, with over two billion followers today worldwide. Armed only with confidence in God his Father, Jesus sets out without ever looking back, thereby inspiring countless men and women to continue his work. The unprecedented growth of the Church and Church institutions are the proof of God's hand on them. May God inspire us too!

Happy Australia Day!

God of all peoples, Lord of the journey, who always walks with us in this land, you have blessed us with the first inhabitants of the land who have loved it through the ages: for them we give you thanks. You have blessed us in the settlers who made this land their home, and forged a nation with their toil: for them we give you thanks.

You have blessed us in the many peoples of different languages and cultures who have found a new home here: for them we give you thanks.

We ask that you make a home among us, so that justice and truth may flourish here and all Australians may walk together into the future you are preparing: for that we give you thanks.

Through Christ our Lord. Amen

Contemplating our God

Jesus was both active and contemplative in equal measure. Today he is teaching in the synagogues, proclaiming the good news of the kingdom and healing every disease and affliction. He travels far and wide to the towns and villages, and wherever his ministry takes him. Then he retires to a remote place to pray and to contemplate the glory of his Father.

There is a rich Catholic tradition of contemplative prayer. There are many Religious Orders devoted to contemplation of God – but contemplative prayer is for all of us. We all want to be deeply prayerful and also to be active in our Gospel life.

Sometimes we may have encounters with the divine without fully recognising what is happening: a moment that feels special; perhaps when overwhelmed by beauty in nature; in comfortable silence with a partner or friend; being moved by the selfless actions of others. These times are special: they are a gift. God is in those moments, even if we don't recognise his presence. These are moments of contemplation.

The Psalmist today has only one longing in his heart: "One thing have I asked of the Lord, that will I seek after: that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the days of my life, to gaze upon the beauty of the Lord and to inquire in his temple."

Gazing on the beauty of the Lord is reciprocal: we are in turn gazed upon by the Lord; his gaze is benign, loving and accepting. In gazing upon the Lord, and with the Lord gazing on us, we are drawn into deeper communion with him. Christ, has come and is shining in our midst.

There is a double challenge for us here: how can we gaze on the beauty of the Lord, contemplate his presence, and then allow our contemplation to bear fruit in gospel action? Firstly, the Catholic Christian tradition has a deep emphasis on contemplation. Every Church has a crucifix, stations of the cross, statues and perhaps icons. Looking at them and allowing them to lead our thoughts and feelings towards prayer and devotion is contemplation. In exposition and adoration of the Blessed Sacrament we gaze on the sacramental presence of the Lord where, in his risen body, he is under the appearance of bread. We can talk with him, listen spiritually to him, or simply gaze at him, hidden as he is.

Another form of contemplation is allowing our minds to roam free: we begin with a prayer, look at a sunset, go on a walk, light a candle or simply sit still, offering the moment to the Lord. It's not just us seeking him: he is actively seeking us, and in contemplating him we are also opening our heart and mind to him. Is this form of prayer associated only with the beauty of nature, with pleasant environments, with feeling good? If we are in the inner city, for example, or in an unattractive environment, are we still able to contemplate? Of course! Our focus changes. We might be looking at ugliness, squalor, painful situations, even tragedy – so we pause, pray, then contemplate where the Lord might be in this situation... Can I meet him here as truly as anywhere else? He isn't fussy. He will meet us whoever and wherever we are, regardless of our situation and however unworthy we might consider ourselves to be. Truly, the Light is here to shine in our darkness. Let us gaze on the beauty of the Lord. This is where we encounter God. Let him speak to us. Hear him.

Parish Morning Teas

Our Sunday parish morning teas have long served as a wonderful opportunity for parishioners to connect with family and friends after the 9:30am Mass. These gatherings have historically received strong support and involvement from our Family Groups. With a decline in participation from these groups due to health and other reasons, we would like to extend an invitation to all parishioners to consider joining a new parish ministry in forming a Hospitality Team. This team would assist in hosting our Sunday morning teas on a roster basis and has the potential to expand into other parish events in the future if interest arises.

The essence of our Sunday morning teas is to foster community spirit and share cherished stories over a cup of tea and a light snack, be it a cake or biscuits. We kindly encourage attendees to bring a plate of treats to share. To keep things simple, we will refrain from serving hot foods, maintaining the intention of morning tea as a casual gathering with refreshments.

If you are interested in learning more about becoming part of this ministry, we invite you to reach out to our parish office for additional information. Let us strive to work together as we build a community that serves as a beacon of Faith, Hope and Love. Call us on 4332 2216.

Children's Liturgy Helpers Needed

We are seeking helpers to join a team for the Children's Liturgy during our 5pm Masses on Saturdays throughout the school terms, hopefully starting in February, provided we have enough leaders.

The Liturgy will be in the back of the Parents' Room, where children can sit on the carpeted area and enjoy stories and activities. We aim to create a roster, so no one person leads every week.

A Working With Children Check (WWCC) is required, and we're happy to help with the application process if you don't already have one. Material and resources will be provided each week.

If you're interested or would like more information, please contact Colleen Smith in the parish office or chat with Fr Brian or Fr Rosan. Thank you for considering this wonderful opportunity!
