This Sunday, the church reminds us of the reunion of all God's people at the feast of His kingdom. It is not only Jews and Christians that the Lord will gather unto himself. He will also gather people from all nations, all those willing to submit to his loving care. The readings of this Sunday, especially the first and the gospel, are closely related. Both bear a powerful message of hope; that is the reunion and restoration of the people of God.

The first reading is a prophecy about the return of God's People to Jerusalem. It is an assurance that God will fulfill his promises to us. Here, the prophet makes three essential points. The first is that God will soon fulfill his promise of restoring us to himself. The second is the fact that God has a purpose for this gathering. This is for the glory of his name. In other words, every thing he does, has the remote aim of giving glory to him. Third, in addition to gathering us unto Himself, God will also make us his ambassadors to other nations. Hence, he promises, "I will give them a sign and send some of their survivors to the nations...that have never heard of me or seen my glory." This also underscores the missionary nature of our call. God initiates it and then uses us to accomplish it. Hence, God commissions us to: "Go out to the whole world and proclaim the good news." This good news is that God will restore our lost glory for the sake of his glory.

The second reading from Hebrews reminds us that obedience and discipline will help us respond and effectively return to the Lord. The path to this return will definitely not be an easy one. In it, we shall encounter thorns and pains. As a loving father, God will also reprimand and punish us. However, this is in order to correct and guide us to the right path. William Shakespeare wrote in Hamlet, "Sometimes, I must be cruel to be kind." As a loving father, this is the way God also handles us at times. He is the potter, and we are the clay. He crushes, treats us hard, and finally moulds us into a beautiful shape. So, we must learn to endure as Christ did through His suffering and death on the cross. This is important if we are to witness the glory of God. Success comes through hard work and hard work through discipline and obedience.

In today's gospel, Jesus answers a challenging and tricky question: Sir, will there be only a few saved? His response was straightforward, clever, and of course, an intelligent one. He replies, "Try your best to enter by the narrow door!" So, rather than occupy oneself with arguments about the number of those to be saved, it is better to work hard for one's salvation. Through this, Christ reminds us that the invitation to His feast is open to all. However, each person must struggle to be there. We must do what we have to do by playing our roles well. This is the only way we can be guaranteed a place in the feast of the kingdom of God.

In other words, it behooves us as individuals to make an effort to be at the glorious gathering of the saints. We have to prepare ourselves by using every available opportunity. Therefore, God calls us to be focused and disciplined to be part of the great gathering of the saints.

Jubilee Prayer

Father in heaven,
may the faith you have given us
in your son, Jesus Christ, our brother, and the flame of charity enkindled
in our hearts by the Holy Spirit, reawaken in us the blessed hope for the coming of your Kingdom.

May your grace transform us into tireless cultivators of the seeds of the Gospel.
May those seeds transform from within both humanity and the whole cosmos in the sure expectation of a new heaven and a new earth,
when, with the powers of Evil vanquished,
your glory will shine eternally.

May the grace of the Jubilee reawaken in us, Pilgrims of Hope,
a yearning for the treasures of heaven.

May that same grace spread the joy and peace of our Redeemer throughout the earth.

To you our God, eternally blessed,
be glory and praise for ever. Amen.

This Wednesday 27 August, and Thursday 28 August, the Church celebrates the Memorials of St Monica and St Augustine, two great Saints of the 4th century. Together they represent a rare combination in the Church: a parent and their child canonised as Saints. Through the example of the Holy Family, we have the pinnacle example of what a saintly family should be, but in the figures of Saint Monica and Saint Augustine we see what can sometimes be more of a reality for our families. Not all families are perfect, or even united. We can go through periods of stress or separation, but this never negates the call to Holiness. In his homily for the Jubilee of Families, Children, Grandparents, and the Elderly, Bishop Anthony Randazzo said families are the “treasure of the Church”. ‘That we are all God’s children, is the foundation of Christian hope. And it is the heartbeat of the family, which is the first school of love, the sanctuary of life, and the mirror of God’s presence in the world,’ he said. May all our families, regardless of their imperfections, be places of love and hope. And may Saint Monica and Saint Augustine be a witness to the power of silent prayers and a sign that God never abandons His children.

LITURGY OF THE WORD

Reading 1: Is 66:18-21

Thus says the LORD: I know their works and their thoughts, and I come to gather nations of every language; they shall come and see my glory. I will set a sign among them; from them I will send fugitives to the nations: to Tarshish, Put and Lud, Mosoch, Tubal and Javan, to the distant coastlands that have never heard of my fame, or seen my glory; and they shall proclaim my glory among the nations. They shall bring all your brothers and sisters from all the nations as an offering to the LORD, on horses and in chariots, in carts, upon mules and dromedaries, to Jerusalem, my holy mountain, says the LORD, just as the Israelites bring their offering to the house of the LORD in clean vessels. Some of these I will take as priests and Levites, says the LORD.

Responsorial Psalm:

R. Go out to all the world and tell the Good News.

O praise the Lord all you nations. Acclaim him all you peoples!

Strong is his love for us. He is faithful forever.

Reading 2: Heb 12:5-7, 11-13

Brothers and sisters, You have forgotten the exhortation addressed to you as children: "My son, do not disdain the discipline of the Lord or lose heart when reproved by him; for whom the Lord loves, he disciplines; he scourges every son he acknowledges." Endure your trials as "discipline"; God treats you as sons. For what "son" is there whom his father does not discipline? At the time, all discipline seems a cause not for joy but for pain, yet later it brings the peaceful fruit of righteousness to those who are trained by it. So strengthen your drooping hands and your weak knees. Make straight paths for your feet, that what is lame may not be disjointed but healed.

Alleluia:

R. Alleluia, alleluia.

I am the way, the truth, and the life, says the Lord; no one comes to the Father, except through me.

R. Alleluia!

Gospel: Lk 13:22-30

Jesus passed through towns and villages, teaching as he went and making his way to Jerusalem. Someone asked him, "Lord, will only a few people be saved?" He answered them, "Strive to enter through the narrow gate, for many, I tell you, will attempt to enter but will not be strong enough. After the master of the house has arisen and locked the door, then will you stand outside knocking and saying, 'Lord, open the door for us.' He will say to you in reply, 'I do not know where you are from. And you will say, 'We ate and drank in your company and you taught in our streets.' Then he will say to you, 'I do not know where you are from. Depart from me, all you evildoers!' And there will be wailing and grinding of teeth when you see Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob and all the prophets in the kingdom of God and you yourselves cast out. And people will come from the east and the west and from the north and the south and will recline at table in the kingdom of God. For behold, some are last who will be first, and some are first who will be last."
