Many people want to read the Bible because they know it is God's Word, but they give up because it seems so complicated. Unlocking the Mystery of the Bible helps you to get the "big picture" of the Bible by showing how fourteen narrative books of the Bible tell the complete story from Adam and Eve to Christ and the Church.

"I never would have read the Bible if it wasn't for this and now I simply adore Scripture. It has given me such insight into the Catholic faith and helps me to understand its true beauty."

This weekend the Catholic Church in Australia marks Child Protection Sunday, on which we pray for those who have been abused, their families and supporters. We recognise the harm done by priests, religious and lay people in Church settings. We recommit to practices that support survivors and make the Catholic Church and its ministries the safest possible place for children and vulnerable adults.

Light for Our Path

The Parish Retreat day will be held on; Saturday 12th October
at the Benedictine Monastery in Arcadia.

It will commence at 10 am and conclude about 3 pm.

The theme for the day will focus on Creation as God's first Incarnation. Such a way of understanding and contemplating our created world enables us to embrace its magnificence with a deep sense of wonder and gratitude for all that is. As we grow in appreciation of this, we become more aware of creation being a "thou" not an "it." This enables us to live more intentionally in a right relationship with the earth and the cosmos through a loving exchange of giving and receiving. It is hoped that one of the fruits of our day together will be an increased sense of growing in harmony as a Parish community of faith, with the one great song of love and grace, ever ancient, ever new.

*The day will be facilitated by Sr. Patty Andrew osu
(a sister of the Ursuline Congregation)*

Plenary Council Now that we are in the Discernment phase, we continue to seek the wisdom of the Holy Spirit.

We invite the groups who participated in Listening and Dialogue to now reconvene in communal Discernment on any one of the six themes. Each Discernment session is expected to result in a response that can be summarised in 1000 characters and that can be submitted through a form on the Discernment page (to be opened September 1). Our Writing and Discernment Groups will then meet and discern on these responses, with prayer and from their own theological knowledge, towards publishing thematic papers and fleshing out the agenda for the first session of the Plenary Council in October 2020.

Unlock the Mystery

The first reading tells what happened between Moses and God when the people made a golden idol and worshipped it. What does this event really mean?

God made a covenant (Agreement) with Abraham. God said "I will give you descendants; your descendants will inherit a land of their own. In return, I will be your God. You will trust me. There will be no other gods but Me."

Years later, his descendants moved to Egypt, looked after by Joseph. They came to be known as the people of Israel. Because they became so many, the Egyptian Pharaohs made them slaves.

After 400 years, God chose Moses to free the Israelites.

God took the people out of Egypt. When Moses was on Mt Sinai conversing with God, the people forged a golden bull in the image of the Egyptian god Apis and worshipped it.

God said, "These people have gone back on the covenant I had with Abraham". Then Moses pleaded with the Lord his God "You brought them out of Egypt. Remember the covenant with Abraham". God relented.

Jeff Cavins tells us in Unlocking the mystery of the Bible: "It took months to take the people out of Egypt, it took 40 years to take Egypt out of the people" How is it relevant to us today?

We face the same challenges they did; either trust God or trust some golden bull. We may not worship a golden bull (Although Wall street worships a charging bull!), but gold still holds a lot of power over us, just as lies, reality tv and 'fake' news does. God gave us freedom from the slavery of sin through the water of baptism. Yet addictions, arrogance and consumerism enslave us.

Only the power of God can break into our dysfunction from the outside in and take that out of us. It may take 40 years or a lifetime for most of us to be healed!

GLORIA

Glory to God in the highest,
and on earth peace to people of good will.
We praise you,
we bless you,
we adore you,
we glorify you,
we give you thanks for your great glory,
Lord God, heavenly King,
O God, almighty Father.
Lord Jesus Christ, Only Begotten Son,
Lord God, Lamb of God, Son of the Father,
you take away the sins of the world,
have mercy on us;
you take away the sins of the world,
receive our prayer;
you are seated at the right hand of the Father,
have mercy on us.
For you alone are the Holy One,
you alone are the Lord,
you alone are the Most High,
Jesus Christ,
with the Holy Spirit,
in the glory of God the Father.
Amen

SANCTUS

Holy, Holy, Holy Lord God of hosts.
Heaven and earth are full of your glory.
Hosanna in the highest.
Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord.
Hosanna in the highest.

THE NICENE CREED

I believe in one God,
the Father almighty,
maker of heaven and earth,
of all things visible and invisible.

I believe in one Lord Jesus Christ,
the Only Begotten Son of God,
born of the Father before all ages.
God from God, Light from Light,
true God from true God,
begotten, not made, consubstantial with the Father;
through him all things were made.
For us men and for our salvation
he came down from heaven, (all bow) and by the Holy Spirit was incarnate of the Virgin Mary,
and became man.

For our sake he was crucified under Pontius Pilate,
he suffered death and was buried,
and rose again on the third day
in accordance with the Scriptures.
He ascended into heaven
and is seated at the right hand of the Father.
He will come again in glory
to judge the living and the dead and his kingdom will have no end.

I believe in the Holy Spirit, the Lord, the giver of life,
who proceeds from the Father and the Son, who with the Father and the Son is adored and glorified,
who has spoken through the prophets.

I believe in one, holy, catholic and apostolic Church.
I confess one Baptism for the forgiveness of sins and I look forward to the resurrection of the dead and the life of the world to come.
Amen.

Reflection on Sunday's Gospel—The Perils of Safety

I was raised to be cautious, physically and morally: "Be careful! Don't make a mistake! Be safe! Don't do anything for which you'll be sorry!" I inhaled those words, literally, through my years of childhood, my years of seminary training, and through most of my years in the priesthood.

Sometimes when we think we are defending life we are really defending the poverty of our own lives

In fact they were the last words that my father, one of the truly moral men I have known, spoke to me. He was dying of cancer in a hospital and as my brother and I left for the night, not knowing that he would die before morning, he cautioned us: "Be careful!" He was referring to our driving on icy winter roads. But this caution marked his character, his moral sensitivity, and his healthy solicitude for us, his children, and it was meant morally: "Be careful! Be safe!" This was his habitual warning.

Those words are now part of my genetic make-up. You inherit more than simple biology from your father, especially if you are lucky enough to have one who was uncompromisingly moral. And that caution has served me well. I'm grateful for it. I've made it through more than half a century essentially intact, physically and morally. No small gift.

But that caution sometimes brings with it other things for which I am less grateful. One can be intact, but so cautious and timid that fear rather than love becomes the compass for one's life. The occupational hazard in always being scrupulously safe is that one can easily end up like the older brother of the prodigal son, that is, rigidly faithful in all things, but judgmental, jealous, and bitter of heart, dogmatically and morally uncompromising, while envying the amoral and being too paralyzed internally to truly dance. Sometimes a long, practiced caution in our actions makes for a heart that is more cautious than generous, more envious than affirming, and more judgmental than forgiving. Sometimes too it makes for a heart that understands love and forgiveness as things that must be merited rather than freely given and received. Too often it results in a heart that is secretly gleeful when things go wrong for those who aren't living as we are. That isn't always the case, but it can easily be, and, speaking frankly and humbly, it has sometimes been the case in my own life.

The German poet, Goethe, once wrote: "The dangers of life are many, and safety is one of those dangers." For some people perhaps the reverse warning might be more appropriate. But for those of us who were raised to be good and religious persons there is a disturbing truth in Goethe's words (Goethe).

Are we living too safely? Do we have the courage to look at our inhibitions, jealousies, and religiously-sanctioned angers with real honesty? Are our lives driven more by fear than by love? Can we enter the dance without judgment and bitterness? Do others perceive us as rigid? When is the last time we could truly forgive someone who hurt us? Are our lives really about love and generosity rather than fear and self-protection?

The danger in living too safely is that sometimes when we think we are defending life we are really defending the poverty of our own lives, sometimes when we think we are defending virtue we are really defending our inhibitions and fears, and sometimes when we think we are speaking for God's healthy concern for the world we are really speaking of our own hidden jealousy, like the older brother of the prodigal son.

The hero of the movie, Chariots of Fire, Eric Liddell, a wonderfully moral young man, was an Olympic runner who, because of religious sensibilities, refused to run an Olympic race on Sunday, even though he was heavily favored to win the gold medal. It would be easy to judge his action as stemming from moral and religious rigidity. In somebody else's case that might be true. It wasn't for Eric Liddell. Why? Because he wasn't driven by fear or rigidity. He was driven by love. "When I run," he famously said, "I feel God's pleasure."

Sometimes I ask myself that same question in relation to my religious and moral inhibitions: Does God take pleasure in my caution? Does God take pleasure in my sacrifices? Does God take pleasure in my anxieties about the world's moral failings? Or is the Father standing with me, outside the celebration, pleading with me, as he once pleaded with the older brother of the prodigal son, to let up a little and come inside and join the dance?

I am grateful for my upbringing, despite the congenital reticence with which it has left me. It's good to be careful. It's a responsible and loving way to live. But I am growing more honest about its dangers. I am pretty intact much of the time, but sometimes I'm more fearful than generous, more self-protective than loving, more jealous than healthily solicitous. Sometimes caution doesn't leave me with a big heart.

Safety too has its dangers.

Q Besides the priest, deacon or other staff members and trained volunteers, who helps to prepare people for initiation?

A The task of preparing people for initiation does not belong to the priest alone, or to one special group of volunteers: it is the responsibility of the entire parish community.

All of us show forth what it means to live as a Catholic, not only when we gather for prayer on Sunday, but in the actions and decisions of our daily lives.

Our example can inspire – or discourage – those who are looking around for living examples of faith in the world.

In 1624, John Donne wrote, "The church is catholic, universal, so are all her actions; all that she does belongs to all. When she baptises a child, that action concerns me; for that child is thereby connected to that head which is my head too, and engrafted into the body whereof I am a member" (Meditation XVII).

All of us are affected when our family of faith grows – not just parents, godparents and Christian initiation volunteers!
