SCRIPTURE COMMENTARY

BY DIANNE BERGANT CSA

The poem from the Book of Wisdom declares the limitations of human wisdom. Arguing from the more important to the less important, or vice versa (e.g., 'If it is like this in the green wood, what will it be like in the dry?' [Luke 23:31]), it insists that no one can fathom the mind of God. The author exclaims that we will attain the wisdom we so sorely seek only if God bestows it upon us. The holy spirit of which the author speaks should not be understood as the third person of the Trinity. The sense of the spirit found here eventually may have been incorporated into Christianity's Trinitarian theology, but here it probably only refers to the immateriality of the things of God.

The responsorial psalm has features of the lament, but its primary theme comes from the wisdom tradition. The issue that seems to consume the psalmist is the transitoriness of human existence. Unlike God, for whom a thousand years are but a blink of the eye, humans have a very brief life span. This prayer comes from a community that is in great distress. The people feel deserted by God, unable to free themselves from their plight. Daybreak usually brings thoughts of hope. However, when it appears that relief is not on the horizon that is slowly taking shape, discouragement turns to desperation and hope evaporates like early morning dew in the light of day. The psalm ends with petitions.

Paul makes a personal appeal to accept back with no recriminations a slave who had escaped Philemon's household. Paul has been criticised by many for not condemning slavery itself. However, he asks that Onesimus be treated like a brother, an attitude that will eventually undermine slavery. Paul taught that in Christ there were no longer slaves or free persons; all were children of God. Now he challenges Philemon to witness to his own belief in this teaching. Paul claims to be Onesimus' spiritual father and he looks upon him as his child. He even considers him his very heart. This personal relationship probably placed even more pressure on Philemon to receive the slave warmly upon his return. Here Paul appeals both to Philemon's Christian conscience and to his indebtedness to Paul.

The cost of discipleship is the basis of the teaching of Jesus in this gospel passage. It is important to note that despite what appear to be extreme demands, the instruction is addressed to the crowds and not simply to those who have already committed themselves to basic discipleship and who are now being called to even deeper commitment and intimacy. Three conditions for discipleship are given here: subordination of everything, even family, to commitment to Jesus; acceptance of the cross, in imitation of Jesus; and relinquishment of all possessions in order to possess and be possessed by Christ alone.

MONTH OF SAFEGUARDING

The safeguarding of all people in our communities and beyond is part of who we are as disciples of Jesus.

We all share the responsibility of fostering a safe and supportive environment where everyone is encouraged to thrive but none more so than our children and the vulnerable.

That means a day to day priority, and ongoing commitment.

The past has taught us how and when things have gone wrong, and that urges us to constantly refocus.

This year, our Diocese is focusing on the family.

Most people's life involves connection to family, immediate or extended. Our Safeguarding Office, along with Catholic Schools Broken Bay and CatholicCare, have combined to create a range of activities where families and loved ones can share their stories, photos and videos in the positive ways they are connecting with children.

See the poster below and scan the QR Codes for more information.

ENTRANCE ANTIPHON

PS 118:137, 124

You are just, O Lord, and your judgement is right; treat your servant in accord with your merciful love.

FIRST READING

WIS 9:13-18

A reading from the book of Wisdom

Who can comprehend the will of God?

What man can know the intentions of God?

Who can divine the will of the Lord?

The reasonings of mortals are unsure and our intentions unstable; for a perishable body presses down the soul, and this tent of clay weighs down the teeming mind.

It is hard enough for us to work out what is on earth, laborious to know what lies within our reach; who, then, can discover what is in the heavens?

As for your intention, who could have learnt it, had you not granted Wisdom and sent your holy spirit from above?

Thus have the paths of those on earth been straightened and men been taught what pleases you, and saved, by Wisdom.

RESPONSORIAL PSALM

PS 89:3-6. 12-14. 17. R. V.1

(R.) In every age, O Lord, you have been our refuge.

1. You turn men back into dust and say: 'Go back, sons of men.'

To your eyes a thousand years are like yesterday, come and gone, no more than a watch in the night.

(R.) In every age, O Lord, you have been our refuge.

2. You sweep men away like a dream, like grass which springs up in the morning.

In the morning it springs up and flowers:

by evening it withers and fades.

(R.) In every age, O Lord, you have been our refuge.

3. Make us know the shortness of our life that we may gain wisdom of heart.

Lord, relent! Is your anger for ever?

Show pity to your servants.

(R.) In every age, O Lord, you have been our refuge.

4. In the morning, fill us with your love; we shall exult and rejoice all our days.

Let the favour of the Lord be upon us:

give success to the work of our hands.

(R.) In every age, O Lord, you have been our refuge.

SECOND READING

PHLM 9-10, 12-17

A reading from the letter of St Paul to Philemon

Receive him, not as a slave anymore, but as a very dear brother.

This is Paul writing, an old man now and, what is more, still a prisoner of Christ Jesus. I am appealing to you for a child of mine, whose father I became while wearing these chains: I mean Onesimus. I am sending him back to you, and with him – I could say – a part of my own self. I should have liked to keep him with me; he could have been a substitute for you, to help me while I am in the chains that the Good News has brought me. However, I did not want to do anything without your consent; it would have been forcing your act of kindness, which should be spontaneous. I know you have been deprived of Onesimus for a time, but it was only so that you could have him back for ever, not as a slave any more, but something much better than a slave, a dear brother; especially dear to me, but how much more to you, as a blood-brother as well as a brother in the Lord. So if all that we have in common means anything to you, welcome him as you would me.

GOSPEL ACCLAMATION

PS 118:135

Alleluia, alleluia!

Let your face shine on your servant, and teach me your laws.

Alleluia!

GOSPEL

LK 14:25-33

A reading from the holy Gospel according to Luke

All who do not renounce their possessions cannot be my disciples.

Great crowds accompanied Jesus on his way and he turned and spoke to them. 'If any man comes to me without hating his father, mother, wife, children, brothers, sisters, yes and his own life too, he cannot be my disciple. Anyone who does not carry his cross and come after me cannot be my disciple.

'And indeed, which of you here, intending to build a tower, would not first sit down and work out the cost to see if he had enough to complete it? Otherwise, if he laid the foundation and then found himself unable to finish the work, the onlookers would all start making fun of him and saying, "Here is a man who started to build and was unable to finish." Or again, what king marching to war against another king would not first sit down and consider whether with ten thousand men he could stand up to the other who advanced against him with twenty thousand? If not, then while the other king was still a long way off, he would send envoys to sue for peace. So in the same way, none of you can be my disciple unless he gives up all his possessions.'

COMMUNION ANTIPHON

CF. PS 41:2-3

Like the deer that yearns for running streams, so my soul is yearning for you, my God; my soul is thirsting for God, the living God.

JOIN US AT ST JOSEPH'S WORKSHOP

Many of you will have heard of the high quality of furniture and other items crafted from recycled materials at St Joseph's Workshop in West Gosford.

The Workshop is a volunteer-based service that supports the work of the St Vincent de Paul Society by manufacturing new furniture that is provided to people who are experiencing hardship.

Products include tall boys, dresser drawers, kids' tables and chairs and much more. The items are fed into St Vincent de Paul Society's welfare programs or for sale in Vinnies Op Shops in Sydney and the Central Coast.

St. Joseph's Workshop

We are looking for additional volunteers to help make furniture for welfare and sale in St. Vincent De Paul shops across NSW. We work from 7.00am to 12.00pm Mon to Friday, so pick the day or days that suit you and come and join a great team of men & women learning new skills and meeting new people.

If you are on JobSeeker, we can satisfy your voluntary work requirements for Centrelink. We are an approved employer (Centrelink ID 40445).
