EASTER TRADITIONS AROUND THE WORLD

Among Catholics in other parts of the world are numerous Easter traditions that local Catholics might consider incorporating into their own Easter celebration. The Diocese of Fort Wayne-South Bend is made up of people from many of those different countries and ethnic backgrounds, who celebrate Easter in fascinating and unique ways. While some of these traditions may have been forgotten over the course of generations, families may find this period of social isolation and spiritual waiting the ideal time to recapture some of these and incorporate them into their in-home Easter celebrations. In the German culture, an Easter tree can be an actual tree adorned with colourful eggs, or branches, preferably in bloom, trimmed and brought inside to brighten the home.

Germany The Fort Wayne area has a large German-descended population, and Easter traditions in Germany are deeply rooted. Eggs get a unique twist in Catholic areas of Germany, where Osterbaum — or Easter trees — are very popular. Whether using an actual tree or branches cut from a tree and brought inside, these trees are decorated with painted Easter eggs. A similar tradition is the Osterkranz, or Easter wreath, which is decorated with colorful eggs and hung from the ceiling. Germany is also the originator of the Easter Bunny. But the event of greatest interest in Germany happens once every 10 years, held this year, is the Easter Passion Play in Oberammergau. It began close to 400 years ago in 1633 when villagers promised to continue it if God would spare the village from the plague. Plague-related deaths ceased. At home, cut fresh branches from a tree or bush and place in a vase inside the house. Eggs may be in short supply during Easter this year, so rather than dyeing eggs, a little ingenuity can create “eggless” ones made from materials found around the house such as yarn, paper or decorated plastic eggs to tie from the branches.

hundreds of people dressed in robes, often white or black, with tall pointed hats and carrying large, lighted candles. These hooded costumes are hundreds of years old and represent penitence. The penitents’ faces are covered to show mourning due to the shame of sin. Though Semana Santa processions in Spain have been cancelled, most Catholic homes have statues or pictures of Jesus and Mary that could be decorated with flowers and other symbols to commemorate this celebration of Holy Week.

Italy Similar to Spain, Italy holds solemn processions on Good Friday or Holy Saturday with costumed participants carrying statues of Jesus and Mary through the town. Some towns also stage Passion plays or Stations of the Cross on Good Friday. Italian Easter bread is braided with three strands to represent the Holy Trinity and shaped in a crown like the crown of thorns with coloured eggs baked into the bread. Some areas of Italy bake their bread in the shape of a dove to symbolize hope. With plenty of time in the home, families can experiment with baking bread for Easter. Various recipes for braided Easter bread, both with and without eggs baked into it, are available online.

Mexico Many of the traditions that originated in Spain were carried to their colonies in Central America and South America hundreds of years ago. Processions on Palm Sunday are traditional in some cities in Mexico, commemorating Jesus’s triumphal entry into Jerusalem. The town of Iztapalapa holds one of the largest Passion plays, known as the Via Crucis. If children are mature enough, families can watch the crucifixion scene from the 1977 miniseries “Jesus of Nazareth” on YouTube together or pray a virtual Stations of the Cross. Eastern European In the South Bend area, there are many churches founded by people from Poland and other Eastern European countries. In places like Poland, Slovakia and Hungary, the tradition of placing a basket filled with certain foods at the altar of the church to be blessed is popular and has transitioned to the United States with these immigrants. Each food item has meaning in Christianity. Some popular items are butter, generally in the shape of a lamb, which symbolizes Christ’s goodness; meat in whatever chosen variety as a symbol of God’s generosity; and, interestingly, horseradish mixed with grated beets represents Christ’s passion and bloodshed. These baskets are typically covered Spain In Spain, Easter celebrations begin before the actual holiday with what is called “Semana Santa,” Spanish for Holy Week, with great pageantry. Parades that date back hundreds of years take place on Palm Sunday and throughout the week as Catholics build floats covered in flowers, candles and most importantly, an elaborate statue of either Jesus or the Virgin Mary. The floats are carried on the backs of dozens of men and paraded around particular cities in Spain. Part of these processions are the inclusion of with an elaborate cloth to resemble Christ's burial shroud. And, of course, eggs are part of Easter tradition as a sign of new life, painted most elaborately in some Eastern European countries like Romania. At home, an Easter basket can still be put together by a family, with items chosen for their symbolic natures — even if there is no Mass at which to bless the basket. Ireland holds rather low-key celebrations for Easter. Good Friday is a solemn day in which eggs are collected, but not eaten. Bread is marked with a cross when it is baked on Good Friday, similar to hot cross buns in England. Catholics attend Mass on Easter Sunday, usually wearing new clothes, then return to their homes for a large meal. Homes are also prepared in advance for a priest to come and bless them on Easter Sunday. At home, Irish soda bread can be baked on Good Friday with a cross cut into the top of the bread before baking.

France Where in Germany the Easter Bunny is the one who delivers the eggs, in France eggs are dropped by the flying bells of churches as they wing their way “back” from Rome on Easter morning. The bells in French churches are silenced on Holy Thursday and are said to “fly” to Rome to be blessed by the pope before ringing out the Resurrection on Easter Sunday. The eggs that the bells supposedly scatter in gardens along their flight path become part of the children's traditional Easter egg hunt. And in one town in France, Bessieres, it has been a part of their Easter tradition for the past 40 years to create the world's largest omelette using around 15,000 eggs to feed the town. At home, the ringing of the bells of St. Peter's Basilica in Rome can be played through YouTube videos or families can ring bells through their own homes, after which Easter egg hunts can take place inside or outside the house. Food, of course, is central to most celebrations, and Easter is no exception. While every nation and family have their own traditions in terms of the Easter feast, some foods have become almost universal in their affiliation with Easter. Eggs, of course, represent new life. Lamb as a traditional dish is a nod to Catholicism's Jewish roots and the Pascal Lamb. Bread is also a staple in some form in nearly every country, as Jesus called Himself the Bread of Life in the Gospel of John.

ORIGIN OF DIVINE MERCY SUNDAY

Origin of Divine Mercy Sunday, the Divine Mercy image, the Chaplet, and the Novena

Saint Faustina: Mankind's need for the message of Divine Mercy took on dire urgency in the 20th Century, when civilization began to experience an “eclipse of the sense of God” and, therefore to lose the understanding of the sanctity and inherent dignity of human life. In the 1930s, Jesus chose a humble Polish nun, St. Maria Faustina Kowalska, to receive private revelations concerning Divine Mercy that were recorded in her Diary. St. John Paul II explains: This was precisely the time when those ideologies of evil, nazism and communism, were taking shape. Sister Faustina became the herald of the one message capable of off-setting the evil of those ideologies, that fact that God is mercy—the truth of the merciful Christ. And for this reason, when I was called to the See of Peter, I felt impelled to pass on those experiences of a fellow Pole that deserve a place in the treasury of the universal Church. ~ Pope Saint John Paul II, Memory and Identity (2005)

Divine Mercy Sunday: St. Faustina's Diary records 14 occasions when Jesus requested that a Feast of Mercy (Divine Mercy Sunday) be observed, for example: My daughter, tell the whole world about My inconceivable mercy. I desire that the Feast of Mercy be a refuge and shelter for all souls, and especially for poor sinners. On that day the very depths of My tender mercy are open. I pour out a whole ocean of graces upon those souls who approach the Fount of My mercy. The soul that will go to Confession and receive Holy Communion shall obtain complete forgiveness of sins and punishment. ... Let no soul fear to draw near to Me. ... It is My desire that it be solemnly celebrated on the first Sunday after Easter. Mankind will not have peace until it turns to the Fount of My Mercy. (Diary, no. 699) On May 5, 2000, five days after the canonization of St. Faustina, the Vatican decreed that the Second Sunday of Easter would henceforth be known as Divine Mercy Sunday.

The Image: Jesus appeared to St. Faustina in a vision, with his right hand raised in a blessing and his left touching his garment above his heart. Red and white rays emanate from his heart, symbolizing the blood and water that was poured out for our salvation and our sanctification. The Lord requested that “Jesus, I trust in You” be inscribed under his image. Jesus asked that his image be painted and venerated throughout the world: “I promise that the soul that will venerate this image will not perish” (Diary, no. 48) and “By means of this image I will grant many graces to souls” (Diary, no. 742). The Chaplet was also given to St. Faustina with this promise: “Encourage souls to say the chaplet which I have given you” (Diary, no. 1541). “Whoever will recite it will receive great mercy at the hour of death. ... Even if there were a sinner most hardened, if he were to recite this chaplet only once, he would receive grace from My infinite mercy. I desire that the whole world know My infinite mercy” (Diary, no. 687)

The Divine Mercy Novena: Jesus gave St. Faustina nine intentions for which to pray the Chaplet beginning on Good Friday and ending on the Saturday before Divine Mercy Sunday.

CF PSALM 138:18,5-6

I have risen, and I am with you still, alleluia.

You have laid your hand upon me, alleluia.

Too wonderful for me, this knowledge, alleluia, alleluia.

FIRST READING

ACTS OF THE APOSTLES 10:34. 37-43

A reading from the Acts of the Apostles

Peter addressed Cornelius and his household: 'You must have heard about the recent happenings in Judaea; about Jesus of Nazareth and how he began in Galilee, after John had been preaching baptism. God had anointed him with the Holy Spirit and with power, and because God was with him, Jesus went about doing good and curing all who had fallen into the power of the devil. Now I, and those with me, can witness to everything he did throughout the countryside of Judaea and in Jerusalem itself: and also to the fact that they killed him by hanging him on a tree, yet three days afterwards God raised him to life and allowed him to be seen, not by the whole people but only by certain witnesses God had chosen beforehand. Now we are those witnesses – we have eaten and drunk with him after his resurrection from the dead – and he has ordered us to proclaim this to his people and to tell them that God has appointed him to judge everyone, alive or dead. It is to him that all the prophets bear this witness: that all who believe in Jesus will have their sins forgiven through his name.'

RESPONSORIAL PSALM

Ps 117:1-2. 16-17. 22-23.

R.v.24

(R.) This is the day the Lord has made; let us rejoice and be glad.

1. Give thanks to the Lord for he is good, for his love has no end.

Let the sons of Israel say:

'His love has no end.' (R.)

2. The Lord's right hand has triumphed;

his right hand raised me up.

I shall not die, I shall live and recount his deeds. (R.)

3. The stone which the builders rejected has become the corner stone. This is the work of the Lord, a marvel in our eyes. (R.)

SECOND READING

COLOSSIANS 3:1-4

A reading from the letter of St Paul to the Colossians

Since you have been brought back to true life with Christ, you must look for the things that are in heaven, where Christ is, sitting at God's right hand. Let your thoughts be on heavenly things, not on the things that are on the earth, because you have died, and now the life you have is hidden with Christ in God. But when Christ is revealed – and he is your life – you too will be revealed in all your glory with him.

GOSPEL ACCLAMATION

1 CORINTHIANS 5:7-8

Alleluia, alleluia!

Christ has become our paschal sacrifice;

let us feast with joy in the Lord.

Alleluia!

GOSPEL

JOHN 20:1-9

A reading from the holy Gospel according to John

It was very early on the first day of the week and still dark, when Mary of Magdala came to the tomb. She saw that the stone had been moved away from the tomb and came running to Simon Peter and the other disciple, the one Jesus loved. 'They have taken the Lord out of the tomb' she said 'and we don't know where they have put him.'

So Peter set out with the other disciple to go to the tomb. They ran together, but the other disciple, running faster than Peter, reached the tomb first; he bent down and saw the linen cloths lying on the ground, but did not go in. Simon Peter who was following now came up, went right into the tomb, saw the linen cloths on the ground, and also the cloth that had been over his head; this was not with the linen cloths but rolled up in a place by itself. Then the other disciple who had reached the tomb first also went in; he saw and he believed. Till this moment they had failed to understand the teaching of scripture, that he must rise from the dead.

COMMUNION ANTIPHON

1 CORINTHIANS 5:7-8

Christ our Passover has been sacrificed, alleluia;

therefore let us keep the feast with the unleavened bread of purity and truth, alleluia, alleluia.
