In today's Gospel, John the Baptist encourages his followers to be patient, as the wait for salvation will soon be over. The Israelites longed to see the day when the Messiah would come. Each generation hoped and prayed that they would be the one to witness the appearance of God's anointed. The Jewish people still hope and pray for this event in every generation.

But Jesus did not come as many expected. Some thought he would arrive in a dramatic event and the end of the world would occur. Others expected a regal entrance or a political overthrow of the Romans. Luke's Gospel repeatedly points out that the very people who longed for the day to see the Messiah missed out because they were looking for the wrong signs.

John the Baptist is the first to see Jesus for who he really is for the world. He recognises that Jesus' sacrificial love can fill our valleys, lay mountains low, make crooked paths straight and rough ways smooth.

Advent is not a season where we have to pretend that we do not know Jesus is coming and then put on mock surprise at Christmas. Advent is the season which celebrates a 'patient yes'. Every year all of us in the Church stand in a queue and remind ourselves of how blessed we are to have seen our salvation in Jesus. We remember the faith of those who longed to see what we see and to know what we know. And we cultivate our patience for life's valleys, mountains and crooked paths where sometimes we can feel Jesus' absence more than his presence, where only when we look back we can see he was with us all the way.

So, as we all wait together in line this Advent let's say yes to all that salvation holds for us: yes to God's personal love; yes to Jesus' kingdom of justice and peace; yes to every opportunity to serve the Gospel and yes to knowing that our God is a companion to us at every step of our journey, even in the most unexpected ways.

Scottish poet John Bell expresses it this way:

'Light looked down and saw the darkness.
 "I will go there", said light.
 Peace looked down and saw war.
 "I will go there", said peace.
 Love looked down and saw hatred.
 "I will go there", said love.

So he,
 the Lord of Light,
 the Prince of Peace,
 the King of Love,
 came down and crept in beside us.

More Top Reasons to Become a Catechist

Fellow catechist Denise sends along these top reasons for becoming a catechist.

A common recruitment answer is that you'll learn more about the Catholic faith by teaching it. That's certainly true, but my experience has been more that I gain new insights on knowledge already floating around my brain, new ways of looking at faith. The kids draw out those insights, and do it in such entertaining ways!

Being involved has been a great way to learn more about what happens in a parish outside of Sunday Mass and my fellow catechists are great people to talk to.

I volunteered to be a catechist to share my teaching heart – not a teacher by training, but by calling. I wouldn't have articulated it that way when I started, but I've since come to see my catechist work as a part of my calling. In the early days, I just enjoyed working with kids and thought teaching was a great way to do that. So if you think you'd like to 'give it a go' contact Cynthia Gilbertson on cinders51047@hotmail.com

As we all know,

Advent is a time to Prepare and prepare we must, as there is much to do and to attend.

Please mark your diaries and save the dates for these upcoming events:

Thursday 16th December at 3pm sees the long awaited return of our access to the residents of Regis Hornsby and what better way to start afresh than with the Annual Christmas Mass. Fr Shaju will celebrate the Mass and Pat Smith will provide the music (both of whom have met the new requirements to attend Regis). We are told the residents are very excited and even thrilled at the prospect of visitors again from our Parish.

Friday 17th December at 7pm is the annual Carols under the Star Event - presented by the Combined Christian Churches of Berowra. This wonderful local initiative brings together the members of the Anglican, Uniting, Baptist and Catholic Faiths.

In past years it has faced some challenges, from being wiped out by a huge and damaging hail storm, to going virtual last year due to Covid. It will be virtual again this year because Covid is still about and now Omicron is lurking in the wings. The churches are taking no chances, they are ...preparing... for whatever may come! Why not jump online to join in the fun via <https://www.carolsunderthestar.com.au/>

Saturday 18th December at 10am is our Annual Christmas Church Cleaning day (both churches). Please meet outside the church armed with your preferred cleaning tool. Jobs to be done include: The inside of the church, the windows, the lawns and the gardens. This way everything will look its best for the arrival of our special little guest, baby Jesus.

Tuesday 21st December, beginning at 7.30pm please come and celebrate the imminent arrival of our Infant Saviour at St Patrick's Asquith. This is a whole parish event and we would like as many parishioners as possible to come along from both ends of parish to, be united in solidarity and love of Our Lord and our one true faith. Bring your family and friends and let's celebrate together!

If things don't change (restrictions wise) then we will be entertained by groups of cantors singing Carols for our entertainment and spiritual enjoyment, BUT, if things DO change and we can ALL SING ALONG ... then watch out, the roof will be raised in celebration and anticipation that unto us a special child will soon be born.

ADVENT By Gerard Moore

Chapter 5 taken from Earth Unites with Heaven: An Introduction to the Liturgical Year. Northcote, Victoria: Morning Star Publishing, 2014, pp 33-35. Used with permission.

The season of advent signals to the faithful that Christmas is approaching. In doing this it also reveals the deeper liturgical understanding of the celebration of the nativity, providing a theological and spiritual reference point for the many cultural, social and devotional meanings and practices attached to this joyous feast.

There are two themes underpinning Advent. The first is the mystery of the incarnation. Christ, the light, has come into our world and dwelt among us as one like us, fully human and yet fully divine: And the word became flesh and lived among us, and we have seen his glory (Jn 1:14). The second is that Christ will return and complete the renewal of all things in grace. The sense is that our celebration of the incarnation fills us with hope as we await with anticipation his definitive coming when the entire creation is taken up into the full glory of God. The season reflects a wonderful play on words that we find at the close of Paul’s First Letter to the Corinthians, where the translation reads: Our Lord, come! (1 Cor 16:22). Yet the text is ambiguous and either can mean ‘the Lord has come’ or be an invitation to the Lord to come. This double sense is captured in Advent.

THE ORIGINS OF ADVENT There are a number of aspects to the history of Advent that allow us to understand its current form. The name comes from the Latin verb ‘to come to’, advenire. The term adventus was well established in pagan Roman religion to refer to the annual visit of a god to his or her shrine to be present to the people and was quickly taken up by Christian theologians to convey belief in the incarnation and second coming of Christ.

There is evidence from the late fourth century that in parts of Gaul the custom was to hold baptisms during Christmas, and consequently the weeks leading up to time were given over to baptismal preparation. This is our first hint in the development of the season of Advent and gave the time a slightly penitential character since it involved fasting, prayer and self reflection. Some two centuries later the season was established in the city of Rome. However, there it was not related to baptism, and so the penitential aspects were not present. Rather the celebrations were focused on the feast of the incarnation and joyful anticipation of the Second Coming of Christ. Nevertheless, during December in Rome there was a fast in preparation for the olive harvest, and so the month had something of a penitential flavour. In sum, we can see here the origins of our current focus on waiting and expectation, as well as the muted penitential spirit that is part of our sense of the season.

The mention of the olive harvest is a reminder that Advent coincided with the onset of winter, the shortening of the days, the coming of difficult and dangerously cold weather, and a general sense of the precariousness of life and the power of death. All these are at play in the spirituality of the season but make this liturgical period somewhat difficult to embrace when celebrated outside the northern hemisphere.

THE FOUR WEEKS OF ADVENT The four weeks that make up the season are divided along the two emphases. The readings and prayers for period from the First Sunday up until the 16th of December lead us to meditate the second coming of Christ. The Preface for this time says it well: Now we watch for the day, hoping that the salvation promised us will be ours when Christ our Lord will come again in glory (Preface of Advent I). Across the three year cycle the Gospel reading for the first Sunday reminds us to stay awake because our salvation is near at hand. The Gospels for the Second and Third Sundays speak of John the Baptist and his message that salvation is immanent. The first readings on these Sundays deal with prophecies of the coming of the messiah, and are taken mainly from the prophet Isaiah, though Jeremiah, Baruch and Zephaniah are called upon in Year C. The second readings carry themes that fit the meaning of Advent. The readings for the weekdays feature prominently the prophet Isaiah, with his promises of the salvation that will come.

From December 16th the focus is directly on the celebration of the Nativity. Again we find this clearly in the preface: In his love Christ has filled us with joy as we prepare to celebrate his birth, so that when he comes he may find us watching in prayer, our hearts filled with wonder and praise (Preface of Advent II). Each of the Gospel readings in the three year Sunday cycle prepares us for the birth of the Lord. Similarly, the weekday Gospels are concerned with the events that led up to the nativity, while the texts for the first reading open up a series of Old Testament prophecies about the coming of the messiah. The season closes with morning Mass on Christmas Eve.

The liturgical colour for Advent is violet, signifying a combination of preparation, penitence and expectation. Often blue is used, moving away from the penitential aspects and looking into the sense of the depth of night which will give way to reveal the coming of salvation.

ADVENT DEVOTIONS The most popular Advent devotion is the wreath containing four candles, one for each of the Sundays leading up to Christmas. There can be variations in the number of candles, but the sense is to mark the time until the birth of Christ, and all the celebrations and gifts that follow. Wreathes and candles carry a strong sense of a season entering more deeply into winter, and a community looking to break the hold of darkness and the cold. The sense of the second coming of Christ seemingly has not found a devotional base. Moore, Gerard.
